Fraternities Today

3

Academics

The greek community consistently maintains a higher GPA than non-Greek undergraduates. Fraternities provide their members with study hours, major mentoring, and tutoring.

Cost

New students are often worried about the monetary costs of a fraternity. This is something that you should discuss with each fraternity individually. Many times it is possible that joining a fraternity can lower overall costs throughout the course of your college tenure.

Hazing Prevention

Every fraternity has outlawed hazing in any form. In the state of Georgia hazing is a criminal offense. IFC and the GT administration are unconditionally opposed to any situation created to produce mental and/or physical discomfort, harassment, or ridicule.

Philanthropy

Our community is involved in many philanthropic and service endeavors within the GT and Atlanta community. Fraternities provide a great outlet to continue or build a passion for serving others

Athletics

Fraternities compete against each other in fraternity-only leagues in intramural sports. The competition is fierce, but most importantly, it always a fun time and a great way to relieve stress.

Leadership

Fraternities offer both internal leadership opportunities because they themselves need strong leaders, but also external leadership opportunities. Greek men and women represent the vast majority of campus leadership positions.

Friendship

College represents an opportunity to make friends that you will have for the rest of your life. Whether or not you join, the Georgia Tech IFC community offers you an awesome opportunity to make new friends through the experience of rush week.

Social

During rush all fraternity houses and events are requires to be free from alcohol. If you do join you can look forward to a rewarding social life integrated with the culture and traditions of the institute.

About the IFC

What is the IFC?

The Interfraternity Council (IFC) at Georgia Tech leads and directs the 30 member fraternities on campus. Each of the twenty nine chapters represented are members of the North-American Interfraternity Council (NIC), a national governing body. The Interfraternity Council promotes the interests of fraternities in general, and insures cooperation among the different fraternities on campus.

The members of these 30 fraternities make up the IFC and represent the largest population of students within the Georgia Tech Community by a substantial margin. These men come from all across the country and globe to study at Georgia Tech, and have found the fraternity experience a welcome compliment to their academics. For more info please visit fraternity.gatech.edu!

What is Rush?

Rush is a weeklong opportunity to learn about the Georgia Tech community and meet many of your fellow undergraduates. You might already know that you want to join a fraternity or you might have never thought about joining one and that is totally normal. Rush is for everyone to learn about Greek life at Georgia Tech.

Rush begins with a kickoff event at Peters Parking Deck on August 19th. For the next six nights afterward, you will be free to walk around campus and visit chapters individually. This is time for you to get to know the brothers of each chapter. You are free to visit as many chapters as you'd like and stay for however long you may need. At most chapters you can expect dinner to be served, casual conversation, and some chapter specific activities to get to know the people there and vice versa.

With 30 chapters on campus, Georgia Tech provides lots of variety within the Greek community. When a fraternity decides that they would like to extend you an invitation to join, they will give you a bid. You can receive multiple bids throughout the rush week and make a decision to join where you feel the best fit.

Things to Consider Before Rush

Recruitment Events

If you are in or near Atlanta area this summer, you may be invited to formal recruitment events by fraternities. This is a great way to get a head start on Rush Week. We encourage all potential new members to meet multiple fraternities before making a final decision. It is strictly against the IFC bylaws for these events to have alcohol or illegal substances in any way.

Required Registration

You are required to register for Rush Week online at fraternity.gatech.edu. It is completely free and it can only help you by giving fraternities a way to learn more and potentially contact you. There is no obligation to participate after you have registered, but it's a great way to get information and updates about the process.

Rush Tips

- If you don't find your fit immediately do not get discouraged. There are plenty of IFC chapters and you can always rush in a later semester.
- Do your homework. Look at the GT IFC website, individual chapter sites, and this guide.
- Use the narrow down method. Early in the week try to see as many chapters you are interested in. Later in the week invest more time with the chapters you connect with most.
- Keep an open mind, many people end up joining a chapter when they did not plan on it. Rush is a great time to make the decision.
- Be yourself. Each chapter wants to get to know the real you. By being yourself you have the best chance of finding a chapter where you belong.
- Dress up! Rush is fairly informal but it never hurts to dress better than a t-shirt and shorts.

FAQs

How does the bid process work?

A bid is an official invitation to join a fraternity as an associate member. A fraternity can give a bid at any time of the year according to their policy. Chapters will generally give a bid if they feel you could be a good fit for their organization. You may receive bids from multiple places and then decide where you fit best. Do not feel pressured into accepting the first bid you receive. You don't have to accept a bid if you don't feel a particular fraternity is right for you, and you do not have to accept a bid right away (even if you plan to accept later).

What should I wear to Rush?

Rush is very informal, so wear whatever you feel most comfortable with. Most chapters will be dressed in business casual -a collared shirt and khakis- but you aren't expected to wear anything in particular.

What if I don't have time?

While you are expected to become involved and participate in events with the fraternity, they realize that you are also adjusting to college life. If anything, a fraternity will help you teach you valuable time management and study skills to adjust to life at Tech. Fraternity members can offer you help with your classes and will make sure you are studying to get the grades equivalent to your abilities. After investing the time and effort into you as a new member, the fraternity is committed to helping you succeed.

FAQs cont.

What if I can't afford it?

It is important for you to make sure you can fulfill the financial obligations of new member process and being a member. However, being in a fraternity is usually cheaper than living on campus after your first year. Chapter presidents and treasurers are also willing to work out payment options for members. Talk to the fraternities you are interested in about how their dues work and how it can work into your budget.

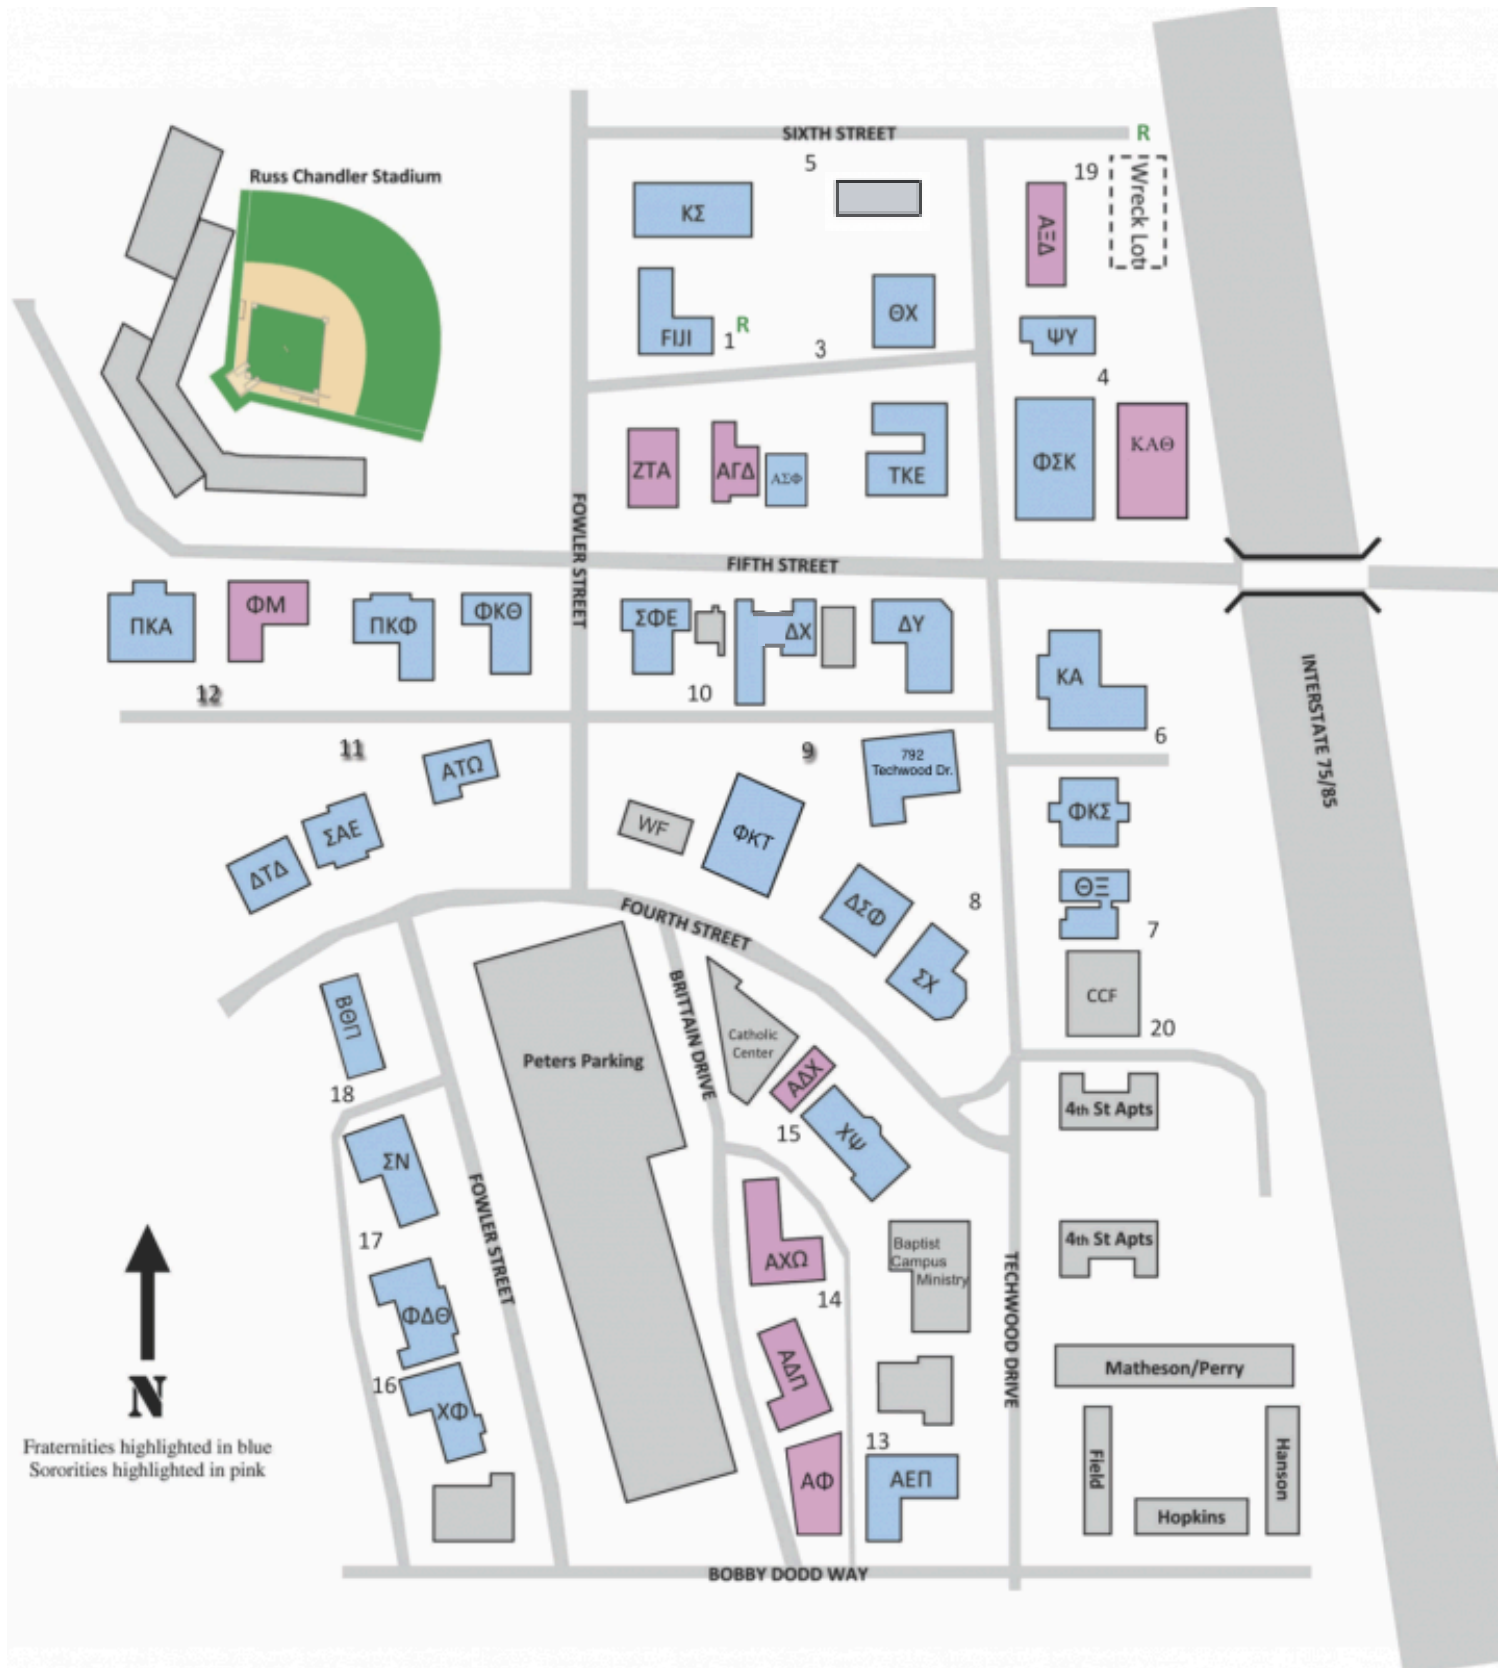

Will I get hazed?

No! If a fraternity new member process involves hazing, chapters face serious consequences for hazing new members or brothers. IFC and the Georgia Tech administration have developed strict guidelines to make sure new member process is as safe as possible.

Do I have to become a brother if I accept a bid?

No! The new member process is a time for you to get to know a fraternity and for them to get to know you more. Both have options of ending the new member period at any time if the fit is no longer working out. New member periods vary in length, but are generally two to three months long. During that time you will participate in intramurals, social events, service projects, and other aspects of fraternity life.

Our Chapters

ΑΕΠ-Alpha Epsilon Pi(AEPi)

What makes AEPi unique

AEPi is home to a brotherhood of future pillars of the Jewish community. We come from diverse backgrounds, and exhibit an ideal blend of studiousness, ambition, social life, philanthropy, and campus leadership. Our brotherhood makes this huge campus feel smaller and provides the guidance each of us needs to succeed. Being a part of AEPi is more than just a social commitment – it is an investment in your college career and beyond. If you're looking for a place to maximize the return on your next 4 years and have a great time doing it, this is the place for you.

ATO-Alpha Tau Omega(ATO)

What makes ATO unique

Founded in 1888, the Beta Iota chapter of Alpha Tau Omega is Georgia Tech's oldest fraternity. ATO is known as America's Leadership Development Fraternity, and we take that reputation seriously. Our chapter aims to build men who are prepared to lead in whatever path they pursue. With a culture rooted in ambition, support, and strong moral grounding, we've built a brotherhood where each member is encouraged to grow into the best version of himself. Our chapter is committed to the values that have defined ATO for generations: leadership, scholarship, service, and brotherhood. We challenge our members to reach their full potential while creating lifelong bonds of friendship.

$\Delta\Sigma\Phi$ -Delta Sigma Phi(Delta Sig)

What makes Delta Sig unique

The Alpha Gamma Chapter of Delta Sigma Phi prides itself on cultural and intellectual diversity, a tightly knit brotherhood, and balanced living. Our men uphold these standards through volunteer and philanthropy work with organizations such as Children's Healthcare of Atlanta and Habitat for Humanity. Members also strive to give back to campus through involvement with SGA, IFC, GT Motorsports, Ski Club, and GTVC amongst others. Above all, we prove our commitment to the academic success of our members by consistently achieving a GPA above the campus average. We reward that hard work with brotherhood events, participation in Homecoming and Greek Week, our spring ShipWreck party, date nights, mixers with sororities, and other social activities.

ΦΚΨ-Phi Kappa Psi (Phi Psi)

What makes Phi Psi unique

GT Phi Psi is a brotherhood of men who share likeminded ideals. Phi Psi particularly calls to gentlemen who share our values of service to the community, personal integrity, respect for others, academic excellence, and obviously, brotherhood. Whether it be through giving back to the community via multiple philanthropic events during the semester, or the many brotherhood events held throughout the year, we believe in not only preaching our core values, but also regularly putting them into practice. Members are encouraged to maintain academic excellence, and a heavy focus is placed on professional development. Even after college, Phi Psi is a bond for life, with many alumni both young and old still regularly keeping in contact and attending events hosted by brothers.

What makes Skull House unique

Skullhouse is about building a brotherhood. While we enjoy social events, and hosting the occasional party, Skullhouse focuses more on internal brotherhood events, whether it be escape rooms, axe throwing, or just hanging out in the house. A lot of our members at first weren't even considering fraternity, but we have all found a home here at the chapter. We are one of the smaller chapters on campus with around 18 active members, and are much closer due to that fact. We build better brothers through our catered leadership program, helping the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society, and holding the highest GPA of all Phi Kappa Sigmas. Please reach out if you would like to learn more, we would love to hear from you.

ΠΚΑ-Pi Kappa Alpha(PIKE)

What makes Pike unique

Pi Kappa Alpha (Pike) was founded in 1868 to recruit Scholars, Leaders, Athletes, and Gentlemen. Pike brothers seek to excel in their lives, whether it be at work, on the field, or in the classroom. With a strong focus on academics, the chapter provides a multitude of resources, from textbooks to tutoring. Furthermore, the chapter has a tradition of dominance in Greek Intramural Sports. Pi Kappa Alpha opens doors to other student or Greek organizations, such as sororities and honor fraternities. Brothers also hold executive positions in organizations, including the Interfraternity Council and Habitat for Humanity. Each member gains an alumni network of over 270,000, helping recent alumni find internships and work opportunities. For Pi Kappa Alpha, friendship and brotherhood are a lifelong commitment.

What makes PiKapp unique

Pi Kappa Phi's Iota Chapter at Georgia Tech is built on real bonds and unforgettable moments. From throwing down at tailgates and parties to running our seasonal "baseball" league to formal in New Orleans, Pi Kapp had a riveting year. But beyond the fun, we're about something bigger. Through The Ability Experience, we stay committed to giving back and making a real impact. Our brotherhood brings together guys from all backgrounds and majors, but what connects us is the drive to grow, show up, and enjoy every part of college together. We hold each other down in class, on campus, and in life. Pi Kapp isn't just where you find friends — it's where you find family.

ΨΥ-Psi Upsilon(Psi U)

What makes Psi U unique

Don't have any interest in joining a fraternity? Neither did we! Psi Upsilon is probably not what you think of when you think of fraternities, and not just because we're co-ed. It's true: Psi Upsilon is the only gender inclusive social fraternity on campus. It may seem a bit strange, but stop by and you'll soon discover that "normal" isn't a word used around here very often. Ever made spreadsheets in order to better raise your Pokémon? Ever had a powerpoint night and made a 50 slide presentation about fanfiction tropes? Ever burst into song during Disney's Mulan? Ever try to replace your body parts with those of dinosaurs during a game of D&D? Ever wanted to paint pride flags on the walls? I think those examples are enough; let's move on. One of the most commonly uttered phrases by our brothers is "I never thought I'd join a fraternity," and if you stick around it won't take long for you figure out why. Psi Upsilon can be summed up by our unofficial motto: "Individual standards, not standard individuals," and it shows in our members' incredible diversity of passions. We have brothers that make sure to get tickets for every Jackets game, but we also have brothers that spend their time writing metal music, thrifting clothes, or spinning fire. We go Squishmallow hunting, we go camping, and we go on lots of spontaneous adventures. In our spare time, some of us play practical jokes with our wireless network while others battle it out in Super Smash Brothers. Some of us skateboard, some laser-cut memes on wood planks, some paint murals all over our walls, and some adore playing with fire. We all enjoy different things, but at the end of the day, we all live under the same roof.

ΣAE-Sigma Alpha Epsilon(SAE)

What makes SAE unique

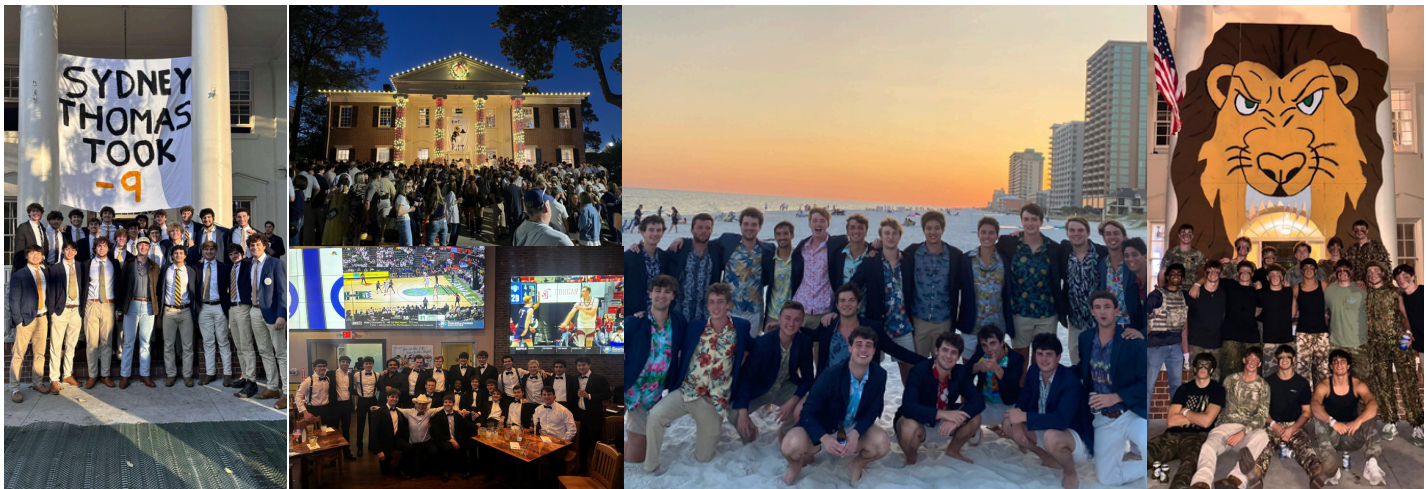

Members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon take pride in being True Gentlemen in all of their endeavors. At its core, being a True Gentleman means being well respected across campus by all. A second core value of Sigma Alpha Epsilon is rooted in academic success: in the fall of 2025, our chapter ranked second in cumulative GPA among all fraternities campus-wide. Brothers also support philanthropic efforts, such as Sleep in Heavenly Peace and Manny's Band, to maintain status as True Gentleman in our community. However, brotherhood is what arguably differentiates this fraternity from others. Our brothers experience unwavering support, through good times and bad, and we believe everyone should have the opportunity to experience this level of connection at Georgia Tech.

ΣΧ-Sigma Chi

What makes Sigma Chi unique

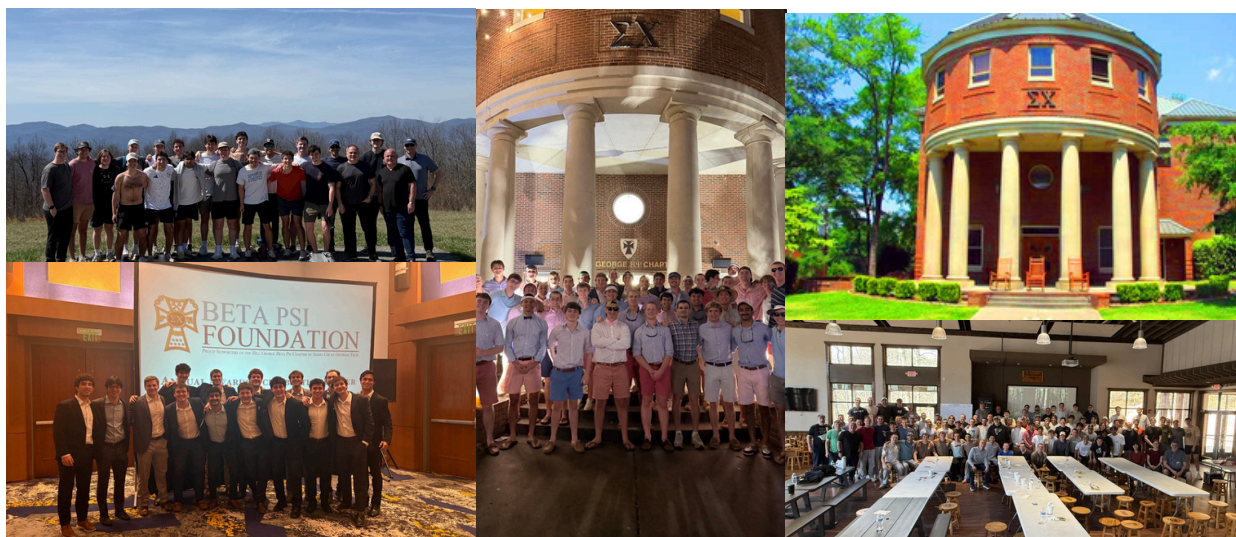

Sigma Chi is a chapter focused on cultivating and maintaining the high ideals of friendship, justice, and learning. At the Beta Psi chapter at Georgia Tech, these values are reflected in a commitment to building genuine brotherhood, supporting academic and professional growth, and developing principled leaders on campus and beyond. Our members come from diverse backgrounds but are united by a shared dedication to integrity, personal development, and service. Through social events, philanthropy, and leadership opportunities, Sigma Chi provides an environment where members are challenged to grow while forming lifelong connections.

ΣN-Sigma Nu (SNU)

What makes SNU unique

Founded in 1896, the Gamma Alpha Chapter of Sigma Nu is one of the oldest fraternities on Georgia Tech's campus and is built on shared values of love, truth, and honor. We're a diverse, yet tight-knit group that pushes each other to win in the classroom, show up for philanthropy, and make the most of every part of campus life. You'll find our guys everywhere, from club sports teams to campus leadership, and we take a lot of pride in competing and showing out together. At the end of the day, it's about being surrounded by people who hold you to a higher standard and have your back while you chase it.

ΣΦΕ-Sigma Phi Epsilon (SigEp)

What makes SigEp unique

Founded in 1907, the Georgia Alpha chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon is one of the oldest SigEp chapters in the nation. Our brotherhood is held to the values of virtue, diligence, and brotherly love. These values pour over into our involvement in campus leadership in organizations such as SGA, UCC, YJSP, and numerous campus ministries. Additionally, SigEp values its athletics, participating in nearly every intramural sport. With this, it is no surprise that SigEp is consistently a top 3 largest fraternity on campus, offering a web of networking opportunities with current brothers and alumni. Through the Balanced Man Program, our brothers make huge personal strides throughout their college career that eventually lead to them being better men in all aspects of life.

TKE-Tau Kappa Epsilon(TEKE)

What makes TEKE unique

The Beta-Pi Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon (TKE) at Georgia Institute of Technology was established on June 5, 1948. As part of a global brotherhood founded in 1899, TKE emphasizes the development of men through mental, moral, and social growth. The fraternity's mission is to "aid men in their mental, moral, and social development for life," encapsulated in the motto "Better Men for a Better World." Members are committed to academic excellence, community service, and fostering lifelong friendships. The Beta-Pi Chapter is actively involved in campus life and upholds the values of Love, Charity, and Esteem.

What makes Theta Chi unique

Theta Chi's are resolute men. Our Brothers have a variety of interests and backgrounds, but we all seek to achieve a standard of excellence in everything we do. As Georgia Tech students first, we seek to have an enriched college experience by taking advantage of all that our school has to offer. Our pillars are academics, service and brotherhood, and in addition to these, our brothers immerse themselves in other activities on and off campus. We are ordinary men doing extraordinary things.

What makes Theta Xi unique

We are the Christian fraternity on tech's campus. We love to do everything any other fraternity would do like hosting parties, having date nights, having formals and semi-formals, and many other things. But what really matters the most is the Christian aspect to our fraternity. This holds us together as a brotherhood stronger than anything else. Because of this we have nights of worship at the house and hold small groups inside and outside of the fraternity. It is also super important for us to be active in campus/Greek life events. We strive for excellence in Homecoming and Greek week to keep our name out on campus.
